China has a little of everything for everyone, from rugged mountains, to bustling metropolises. Tucked away, on its southern-most tip, is a gem of an island called Hainan - or sometimes dubbed the Oriental Hawaii. At its coordinates of 20 degrees north of the equator, Hainan island is a prized latitudinal combination of sunny beaches, coral reefs, balmy climate and hilly landscape, which is not experienced anywhere else in China. This is the setting for tropical Banyan Tree Sanya, worlds apart yet just one hour's flight from Hong Kong.

This erstwhile little-known beach mecca has been in the international spotlight in recent years for hosting world class events such as the Miss World pageants. It is little wonder that Sanya has been the choice venue for such high profile events. Vast stretches of scenic coastlines are accompanied by beautiful natural beaches, fresh sea breezes and clear waters, making water-sports like diving and snorkelling very popular. The long warm days and mild winters also make Sanya an idyllic spot for weary travelers who want to recuperate from the more exhausting aspects of travel in China.

Diving, water sports, excursions, snorkeling, recreation centre with fitness room and library, TV room, choice of restaurants and bars, boutiques, and a Spa will create memories of magical stay.

Narada Resort & Spa Sanya

Narada Kempinski Resort & Spa Sanya is nestled on the shores of Sanya Bay, the only & one hotel on the private beach, enjoying tranquil and serene sights of lush green mountains, crystal clear waters, magnificent blue ocean. The resort opened in January 2007, spanning out on 166 acres of land, its Asian inspired architectural design reflects a special artistic fashion and elegant style; a favourite amongst guests is definitely the outdoor plunge pool on every room's private balcony, enabling them to enjoy a bath under the twinkling stars at night. You can take a leisurely stroll on the resort's private sandy beach; sip freshly brewed beer at world renowned Paulaner Brauhaus all the way from Germany whilst watching the amazing sun set or unwind at the signature Angsana Spa
